DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3,6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lai et al (US 6,115,149).

Regarding claim 1, which is representative of claims 6,8, Lai discloses .A scanning method by using a paper feed scanner, wherein the paper feed scanner comprises a sheet feeder attached thereon, a scanning head and a transmission mechanism, with the transmission mechanism driving the scanning head to scan a paper sheet sent from the sheet feeder to a scanning window of the scanner, the method comprising: a) making the paper sheet go forward a first distance into the scanning window; b) the scanning head scanning a portion of the paper sheet; c)the transmission mechanism driving the scanning head to move a second distance in a first direction, wherein the second distance is smaller than the first distance', d)repeating the steps b) and c) until the scanning head completely scans a plurality of portions of the paper sheet in the scanning window; e)repeating the steps a), b), c) and d) except that the scanning head moves in a second direction opposite to the first, 9 repeating the steps a), b), c), d) and e), the movement of the scanning head alternating between a first and a second direction, until the scanning head completely scans the paper sheet to be scanned (Col 6 Lines 4-36; Col 8 Lines 4-19; Figs 1-2).

For claim 2, which is representative of claim 9, Lai teaches wherein the scanning head moves back in forth to scan the paper sheet (Col 8 Lines 4-19).

For claim 3, which is representative of claim 10, Lai discloses wherein the scanning head moves in one way to scan the paper sheet (Col 8 Lines 4-19).

For claim 7, Lai discloses wherein the second distance is smaller than the first distance (Col 6 Lines 4-36; Col 8 Lines 4-19).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lai et al (US 6,115,149) in view of Eguchi (US 5,914,745).

Lai discloses the scanning method as discussed above.

Lai does not disclose expressly a conveying guide, and a plurality of rollers arranged on the conveying guide and in contact with each other to make a pair of rollers, and wherein the paper sheet is transmitted along the conveying guide by rotating the pair of rollers.

Eguchi discloses a conveying guide, and a plurality of rollers arranged on the conveying guide and in contact with each other to make a pair of rollers, and wherein the paper sheet is transmitted along the conveying guide by rotating the pair of rollers (Col 3 Lines 39-49; Fig 3).

Lai & Eguchi are combinable because they are from the same field of endeavor.

At the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to combine Eguchi with Lai.

The suggestion/motivation for doing so would have been to move the sheet in the reverse direction.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to combine Lai with Eguchi to obtain the invention as specified in claim 4.

For claim 5, Eguchi teaches wherein the sheet feeder comprised a scanning window through which the scanning head scans the paper sheet, and the length of the scanning window in the moving direction of the paper is larger than or equal to the first distance (Col 3 Lines 55-64; Col 4 Lines 26-54).
